ATLANTIS ALBARIÑO 2020

Fruity, fresh and aromatic.

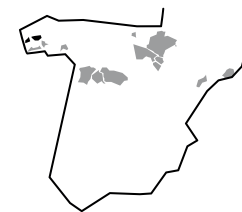

ORIGIN

In our eagerness to explore, in 2014 we began a journey in search of the areas with the greatest potential for white wines in Spain. Raúl Acha, technical director, and Richi Arambarri, our CEO, set their sights on the north, on those DOs that stand out for their freshness, as they are strongly influenced by the Atlantic climate.

For the Atlantis collection, the selection included four small regions with little international projection but with extensive history and ample capacity to compete with the best white areas in the world: Rías Baixas, Ribeiro, Valdeorras and Txakoli de Álava. There we produce the four Atlantis wines using native varieties: Albariño, Treixadura, Godello and Hondarrabi Zuri.

In Condado de Tea, where Atlantis Albariño was born, Raúl and Richi found the vineyards to obtain an Albariño that represented the authenticity of the variety but with a balanced style and very apt to conquer the palates of consumers around the world.

TECHNICAL INFORMATION

Varieties: Albariño.

Vineyard: Vineyards are located in Condado de Tea, on the right bank of river Miño, between 100 and 250 meters above sea level, on slopes with an average gradient of 10 %. The soil is sand with a granite subsoil.

Harvest: Manual harvest in small boxes between September 1 and 21. Grape selection in the vineyard.

Winemaking: Controlled fermentation in vats at low temperature (18°C). Ten weeks of aging on lees in the vats.

Alcohol Content: 12,5% Vol.

TASTING NOTES

Colour: Elegant and clean lemon yellow colour.

Nose: Very intense and persistent aroma. Reminiscent of green apple and tropical fruits, such as pineapple and mango.

Palate: Long and persistent with a perfect acidity that matches its body, making it a very pleasant wine full of sensations.

2020 VINTAGE

An early year from budding, with a warm and humid spring that caused some losses in the vineyard and forced exhaustive control. The winegrower made an great job. The warm summer helped the ripening to be very sustained. A timely drop in temperatures in the second half of August refreshed the vines and favored optimum maturity.
